Navy dismantles local area landmark

PORTSMOUTH — After a series of meetings with Portsmouth Water and Fire District (PWFD) officials, an agreement was reached Aug. 15 to provide temporary water service to the Melville Elementary School and surrounding housing area. Upgrades to Navy owned water pumps supporting the water system enabled the Navy to dismantle the existing water tower adjacent to Melville Elementary School on West Main Road. The job was in progress all week.

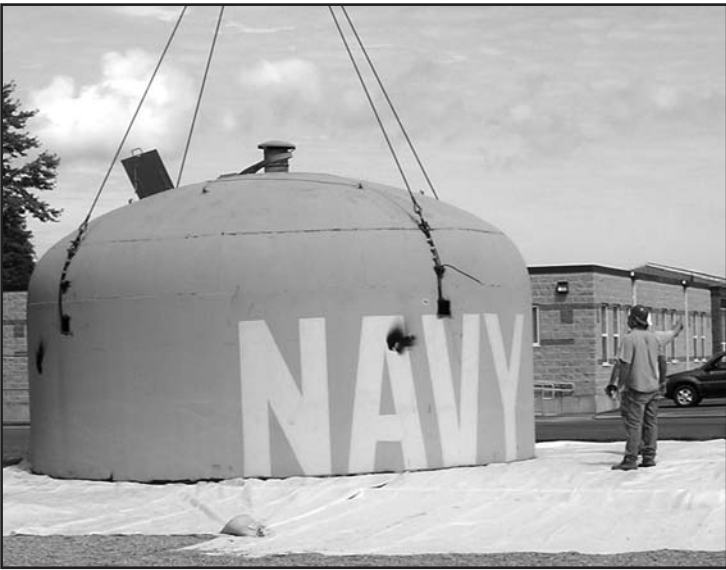

The tower has been the site of ongoing lead paint remediation efforts. However, during site preparation activities last May it was determined that the 63-year-old tower needed structural repairs that would necessitate either tearing it down or completely renovating it.

School District officials, town administration members from Newport and Portsmouth, and PWFD members, along with a team of Navy engineers, have been working to determine the most beneficial solution ever since. Demolition of the tower is the result of a lot of hard work and cooperative effort between the communities of Aquidneck Island and the Navy.

Lt. Cmdr. Andy Sullivan of the Naval Facilities Engineering Command, said, "Everyone involved remained focused on the ultimate goals of providing a safe schoolyard environment for the children and teachers of Melville Elementary School, and reliable water service to the residents and visitors of the Melville area."

All steps were taken to avoid any disruption in water service to the elementary school and surrounding housing area, and to complete the demolition project before classes resume on Aug 30. The demolition by Pittsburgh Tank and Tower began Aug. 17 was finished earlier this week.

Once the tower is dismantled, the Navy will remove any soil contaminated with paint particles over the years. Navy Environmental specialists will sample the soil around the tower to determine the extent of lead contamination and will likely remove soil, particularly directly under the tower.

A fence will remain in place around the base of the tower until the lead-contaminated soil is removed and the site receives a clean bill of health from the Navy, the R. I. Department of Environmental Management, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

"We appreciate the patience, cooperation and understanding of the community," said Capt. Todd Malloy, Commanding Officer, of Naval Station Newport.

"There has been work going on at the tower for many months now and we're very happy to have a solid plan in place to bring this issue to a close,"

Summer concert to end with bang

By LISA M. RAMA
NAVSTA Public Affairs Officer

Preparations are well underway for Navy Band Northeast's outdoor "Salute to Summer" concert on the lawn at Dewey Field on Sept. 1.

The Morale, Welfare and Recreation Department has overall responsibility for the family event, and has arranged for a variety of food, beverage and novelty vendors. The Naval War College Museum will stay open later for those interested in brushing up on their naval history.

The evening will culminate with a 25-minute spectacular fireworks display over Narragansett Bay, beginning at approximately 8:45 p.m.

The concert will feature two bands from Navy Band Northeast. Rhode Island Sound will open the show with a concert of contemporary and classic rock beginning at 5 p.m.

At approximately 7 p.m. the Concert Band will take the stage to perform patriotic marches and light concert pieces. The program will include a salute to veterans of all services.

Because of increased security measures, no coolers, backpacks, glass bottles, or pets will be allowed on to the naval complex.

The public should enter through Gate One, the main entrance near the Officers' Club, after 4 p.m.

Music and concession sales at Dewey Field will begin at 5 p.m.

The rain date is Saturday, Sept. 2.

Every effort will be made to minimize disruption of traffic and dental service during this renovation project. Phone numbers are not expected to change. All dates are subject to change.

Children involved in CDC dedication

By LISA M. RAMA
NAVSTA Public Affairs Officer

Creative juices are flowing at the Child Development Center (CDC) at Naval Station (NAVSTA) Newport as the children prepare to participate in dedication ceremonies on Tuesday, Aug. 29, at 10 a.m.

At that time, the sign, which has been under wraps (literally) for weeks now, will be unveiled.

The 24,000 square foot, one-story building outside Gate 11, costing more than $6.4 million, opened in December 2005. It can accommodate up to 230 children.

Kerry Ragno, Child, Youth Programs director, is remaining tight-lipped regarding the entertainment the children will provide for parents and other guests. Navy Band Northeast will provide music, and Navy personnel and their family members, especially those who have children at the center, are encouraged to attend.

at NAVSTA, whose son, Derrick Jr., 7, attended summer camp at the facility, said it's been a positive benefit to have the CDC nearby. "Derrick had a great time at the camp," he said. "He had the opportunity to socialize with a lot of other Navy kids which always makes him feel like a part of a family. I was able to drop into the center and see him quite a bit – having it right outside the gate made it very easy for me."

The children of CDC have hand-decorated a cover for the sign, which will be unveiled at the end of the ceremony.

International class cracks into lobster

By RYAN GALLUCCI
NWC Public Affairs Staff

MIDDLETOWN — The Naval Command College has convened its 51st class for the 2006-2007 academic year at the Naval War College in Newport. With this naturally comes the famous Kempenaar clam-bake.

Since the NCC was founded by Adm. Arleigh Burke in 1956, the Kempenaar family of Middletown has hosted an annual clam-bake in honor of the War College's international students. This year's event was Aug. 17 at the Kempenaar Clambake Club off of Valley Road.

"This has been an enduring event in an ever changing world," said Capt. Steven Kornatz, the director of the NCC. "I can't think of another event that has brought together so many nations so consistently for such a long period of time."

The tradition dates back three generations in the Kempenaar family. Every year the Kempenaars invite prominent Newport residents and state legislators to welcome the NCC students to the community.

This year, State Sen. June Gibbs, R-Middletown, presented each student with an honorary Rhode Island state citizenship on behalf of Gov. Donald Carcieri. Lt. Gov. Charles Fogarty also stopped by to give the students his best wishes.

The evening featured a cocktail hour followed by a full three-course clambake; complete with steamed clams, brown bread, sweet corn, coleslaw and, of course, native lobster. For many of the NCC students this is their first exposure to an old New England tradition.

The international students find out about the event from colleagues who have attended the NCC in the past; and they look forward to it once they make it to Newport.

"I had heard of the clambake when I was a student in the

School bells send shoppers to NEX savings

By JOY CHRISTMAS
NAVSTA Public Affairs Staff

As a long hot summer winds down, the Navy Exchange (NEX) is geared up for back-to-school shopping – offering everything from computers to clothing to clogs.

Ongoing sales flyers, advertising what students want most, are available at store entrances.

“Everything has a lot of color this year,” said Barbara Bain-Martinez, head of NEX Visual Merchandising. The latest fashions, lunch bags, notebooks and pencil cases, even the glue comes in various bright colors.”

Bain-Martinez said if in doubt what to purchase, supply lists from the local school districts are posted in the back-to-school aisle.

On leave from McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey, Tech Sgt. Todd Patesel was at NEX shopping for school clothes with his son, Nathan, 7.

“It’s a lot better than going to the mall,” said Patesel. The prices are better and the selection is good.”

Long-time NEX shopper Kathy Hangsleben agreed. “I always shopped at the Navy Exchange when my kids were in school because I always like their prices,” she said. “Now I’m here shopping for my granddaughter.”

Personal and laptop computers remain popular and NEX has various models on sale from Sony, Hewlett Packard, Toshiba and Compaq Presario. Printers and other accessories are also available.

A balloon sale today from 5 to 8 p.m. will enable shoppers to save even more. At checkout, customers will pop an inflated balloon with a coupon inserted inside good for 5 to 100 percent off their purchase.

On average, NEX prices are 20 percent below that of competing stores. In addition, NEX guarantees the lowest price and will match any competitor’s price that is lower within a 50 mile radius. Just bring in the ad.

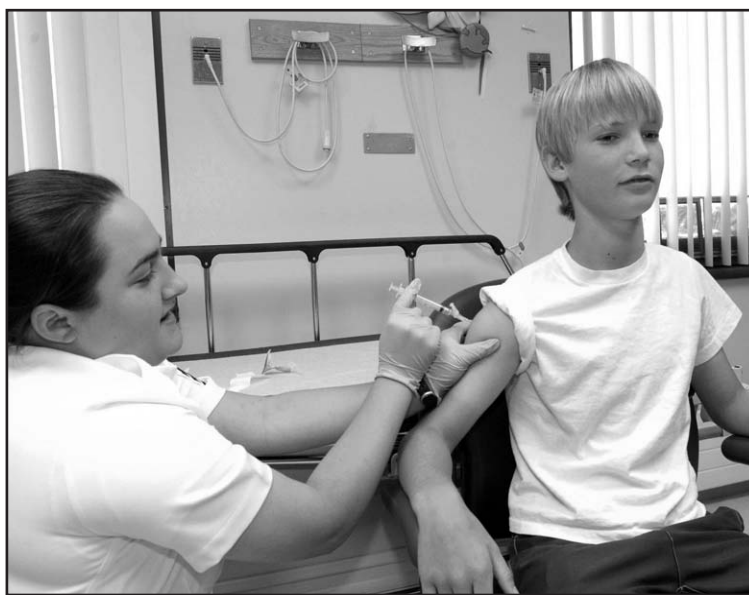

NEX is open 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and Sunday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

With the exception of Middletown, public schools on Aquidneck Island will open before Labor Day this year. Portsmouth will begin classes

The new academic year will begin for all grades with a full day of classes in Middletown on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

To enter kindergarten in

For more information for Middletown, call 849-2122; for Newport, 847-2100; and for Portsmouth 683-2257.

All schoolchildren entering k i n d e r - g a r t e n through Grade 12 in R h o d e Island for the first time must obtain a physical examination. Physicals completed up to one year prior to registration are acceptable.

TRICARE Prime beneficiaries can schedule school or sports physicals at Naval Ambulatory Care Center Newport by calling the Naval Health Care New England Appointment Call Center at 1-888-628-9633, Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

HOT ROD T-SHIRT— Air Force Tech. Sgt. Todd Patesel, visiting from McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey, does some school shopping with son, Nathan, 7.

Rhode Island public schools, pupils must have reached their fifth birthday by Sept. 1. Children who will be age 6 by Sept. 1 are eligible for either Pre-One or Grade 1.

All immunizations must be current prior to registration. The Hepatitis B vaccine series is now part of the immunization requirement for school. The chicken pox vaccine (Varivax) is also required unless doctor's documentation of the disease.

Required immunizations include: DTaP, five (5) doses; Polio, four (4) doses; MMR, two (2) doses; and Hepatitis B, three (3) doses. In addition, a lead screening is required for all kindergarten students.

Proof of residency is required for school registration in each district in the form of a rent receipt, utility bill, R.I. driver's license, or lease from the GMH military housing office.

School bus schedules will be posted in The Newport Daily News beginning Aug. 26.

As always, safety is number one. Parents should remind walkers and bikers to always cross at the corner and to obey traffic lights or crossing guards.

Motorists remember, school is open – drive carefully. Obey speed limits, especially in school zones and playground areas.

Be on the alert for children who may dart in the street, or cross the street against the traffic light. Always stop for loading and unloading school buses and crossing guards.

Great Lakes MWR offers fantasy football online

Naval Station Great Lakes' Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR) department is sponsoring a free online fantasy football league for all eligible MWR patrons, ages 18 and older.

The MWR patron with the top score will win a trip for two to the Cypress Pointe Grand Villas Resort in Orlando, Fla. In 2005, more than 1,700 MWR customers participated in MWR Great Lake's online Fantasy Football League, joining more than 200 million football fans competing nationally.

Participants can enroll in MWR's free "salary-cap style league," which is hosted by "Sports Buff," one of the top online fantasy sports companies. Each player begins the season with a salary cap number and must complete his roster by purchasing players of various talent and price levels to fill their team's needs.

Participants are allowed only one free entry per eligible patron, a $19.99 savings that includes live scoring on game days.

Once they register for their free team, participants can adjust their roster as much as they want up until the first week of NFL games. The MWR team owner can pay a one-time fee of $35 at the beginning of the season to make unlimited trades for the rest of the year to keep their team in contention for the title of Sports Buff's grand prize.

The top eight players nationally will win a trip to Las Vegas to compete for the ultimate prize of $30,000 and the title of Mr. Fantasy Football 2006.

The $35 trade package is not necessary to play, but it improves the participant's chances of winning. With the trade package, free team entry

Clambake

Naval Staff College," said Ukrainian Cmdr. Volodymyr Bilousov. Naval War College President Rear Adm. Jacob L. Shuford said, "This is a right of passage for NCC students. Rhode Island is a seafaring state; it's the cradle of the American Navy—but you're not an official 'Rhode Islander' until you've tasted a 'quahog.' " Jeffery Miller, the general manager of the Howard Johnson Inn said, "This is a great event that really brings our community together. It's even more special since the Kempenaar family has never missed one." The event was originally hosted by Rocky Kempenaar's grandfather, Esau Kempenaar. He hosted the event for 17 years before passing it off to his sons, Fred and Robert. Rocky Kempenaar took control of the event in 2004. However, he is careful to note that the clambake is a complete family effort. The Kempenaar Clambake Club is managed by John and Freddie Kempenaar, and Newport's Booth family caters the event.

"We love to do it," said Christine Haywood, an assistant for the Kempenaars. "About three months out we start to call the guests. Then anytime up to the event we have people from the War College and the town reserving their seats." This year's NCC class is hosting two new countries; the republics of Iraq, represented by Capt. Adil Noah, and Gabon, represented by Cmdr. Loic N. Moudouma. These are just two of the 48 countries represented in the 2007 NCC class. The clambake is a point of pride for Director of International Programs, Professor Vince Mocini. He said that it is a great way to kick off each academic year. This year's event fell on a perfect summer evening for Rhode Island, which made the event an even greater success. "This is an absolute perfect evening," said Rear Adm. Shuford, "Perfect weather, perfect food and perfect friendship."
